4. Chinese Consul General TSIANG Chia Tung and his consulate staff receive their salaries partly in NICA currency and partly in U.S. dollars and English pound notes. The NICA guilders are receivable locally, but the U.S. dollars and English pound notes are receivable in Shanghai upon the return of the personnel to China. This arrangement is made possible by the manipulations of the war profiteers, TAN Hin Hie, HICE Njan Joeng, JICE Tjo Joeng and others who deposit the pounds and dollars with business relations in Shanghai and Hongkong where they are payable to the consulate personnel on their return to China. In exchange for this, Consul General TSIANG Chia Tung renders them special privileges.
